FROM PASTOR GINNY

Come-UNITY Kickball... Plus!

On May 6 from 1-4 p.m. at the fields located at East Columbia Library, New Hope is sponsoring a Come-UNITY Kickball game with Law Enforcement from Howard County. Come-Unity is connecting people across the color and culture divide in the community. This event will provide the opportunity for the police and community to strengthen their relationships with each other by playing kickball and spending time together on a spring Saturday afternoon.

We won't just be playing kickball. There will be old-fashioned picnic games for children with giveaways, face painting, and hula hoop fun. The police will provide its' K-9 and Pathway (bikes) units. Youth, 17 & under, can bring their bikes for a special course offered by the police. Food and T-shirts to commemorate the day will be available and much more!

Many parties have had a role in helping create this event: the Racial Healing Team at New Hope, the Conversation in Come-UNITY group as well as other individuals in the community. Steven Lewis, realtor in Baltimore, and I have been co-leading this effort. We first met at the gym, became friends, then decided God was calling us to make a difference in the community. (That's a story to tell in and of itself!)

Some of you may be wondering, just why is the church involved with the creation of this event? This is the Holy Spirit at work calling us to live into God's Reign/Kingdom/Rule in this world. Jesus often spoke of the Kingdom of God being at hand, among you, near you (Mark 1:15, Luke 17:21, Luke 10:9, Matthew 4:17). The reign of God looks like us not sitting on the sidelines in life, but living out the justice, love and mercy of God in our world. It looks like healing and wholeness touching people's lives. God's rule looks like Jesus upsetting the accepted ways of the religious/political establishment of his day in order to welcome & include the least, lost and left out.

In the church we seek to do that by feeding the hungry, providing shelter for the homeless, making quilts with love for refugees and global neighbors. Leaning and living into God's Reign is also working to change unjust systems and structures within our world so justice may flourish. The Kickball Game is an effort to strengthen ties between law enforcement and the community. Events made public in the last few years with names like Freddie Gray, Trayvon Martin, Eric Garner and Tamir Rice have revealed the divide that color makes with policing. Unconscious bias affects us all, even law enforcement. To move in a positive direction, to see each other beyond what our biases tell us, we are seeking an opportunity in Howard County to connect the community with law enforcement.

Church calls for us to be deeply engaged in our community in a variety of non-traditional, concrete and creative ways in order to share the Good News of God's love. As we discover who we are, who our neighbors are, and as we look for where the Holy Spirit is pushing us, new connections with the community will rise up. What do you see in the community? What is the Holy Spirit revealing to you?

Come support Come-UNITY! You don't have to play kickball. We are seeking helpers for the day, connections with businesses who could donate food or support the event to name a few ways to help. Check out our Eventbrite.com and type in Come-UNITY Kickball in Columbia, MD.

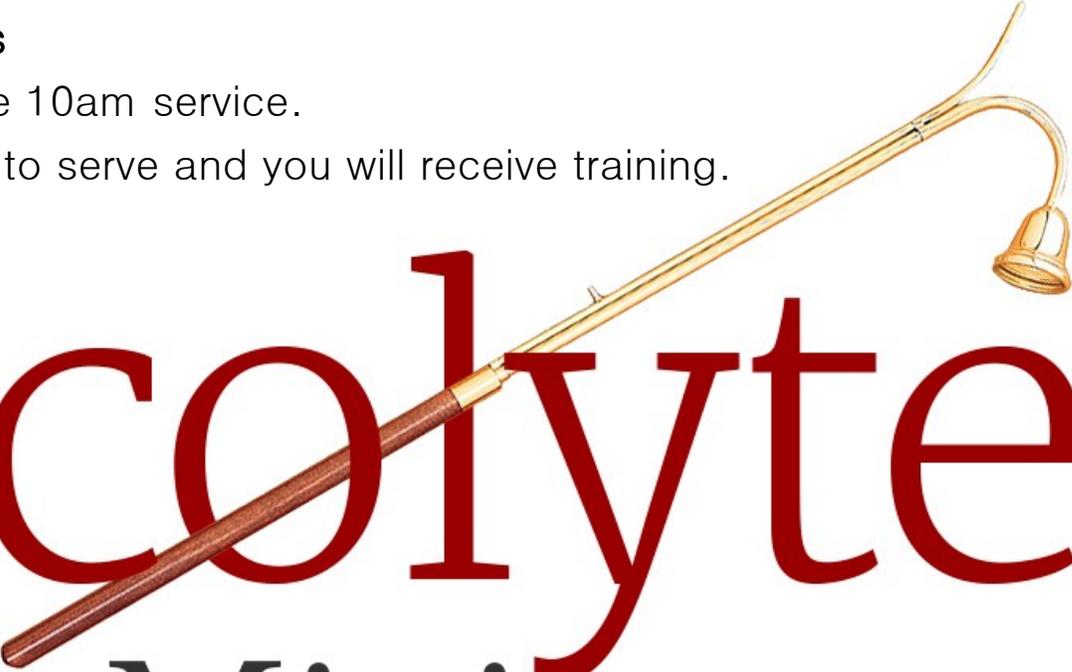

Hope to see you there.

TRIVIA NIGHT

TO BENEFIT BALTIMORE LUTHERAN CAMPUS MINISTRY SATURDAY, APRIL 29

Baltimore Lutheran Campus Ministry is holding its Trivia Night Saturday, April 29, 6 pm at Epiphany Lutheran in Northeast Baltimore. New Hope is looking to defend its victory at last year's Trivia Night. We are looking for anyone interested in a night of fun, fellowship, and friendly competition. The trivia questions are not all Bible or religion questions. They are from all different genres so we need a mix of generations and interests. The cost is $20 per person and includes child care and a taco bar dinner with desserts, iced tea, lemonade and coffee. You may bring your own adult beverages. There will also be a Silent Auction at the event.

If you are interested in being on one of New Hope's Trivia Night Teams contact or would like to donate items for the Silent Auction, contact Kathy Piet or Charles Nicholas.

Reformation 500: About the Lutherans

LUTHERANS IN SOCIAL SERVICE

Care for the poor and those in dire need has been a Lutheran concern from the beginning of the Reformation. In 1522, only five years after the posting of the Ninety-Five Theses, the reformers issued the Wittenberg Church Order, something of an outline for how a reshaped church community was to conduct itself. And part of that document was the call for a common or community chest—a fund that would, among other things, provide for poor orphans and children of poor people, provide refinancing of high-interest loans at 4 percent for those who were in financial trouble, and underwrite education or training for poor children. (Tellingly, Luther was challenged on the possibility of abuse, and he responded, “He who has nothing to live on should be aided. If he deceives us, what then? He must be aided again.”) These ideas were soon being put into practice—not just in Wittenberg, but in other cities as far away as Strasbourg. When the pastor of St. Mary’s Church in Wittenberg, Johannes Bugenhagen, became involved, the church orders also took up the cause of health care.

From that time on, Lutherans have keenly felt the responsibility to care for those in need, and that has been addressed in ways suitable for the time. An important step was taken by nineteenth-century German pastor Theodor Fliedner. Assigned to a poor town called Kaiserswerth (now part of Düsseldorf), he began working with inmates in the dilapidated prison there. Once he got a chaplain assigned to that prison, his focus shifted to caring for inmates, especially women, after their release. This, in turn, led to his development of a plan whereby young women would be trained to care for the sick, since there were few hospitals at that time. In 1836 he opened both a hospital and a school for training women in theology and nursing. He called these women deaconesses.

One of the graduates of that school was Mother Katinka Guldberg, who established a deaconess house in Kristiania (now Oslo), Norway, where one of her students was a young Elisabeth Fedde. After working for a time in northern Norway, Fedde moved to New York City to begin ministry there. In short order, she founded or cofounded the Norwegian Relief Society, a deaconess house, and a small hospital that eventually became the Lutheran Medical Center in Brooklyn. After a few years, she moved to Minneapolis, where again she founded a deaconess center and a hospital that has now become part of the Hennepin County Medical Center. Hospitals in Chicago and Grand Forks, North Dakota, can also be traced to her work. Other important activity in social services was propelled by Pastor William Passavant.

These days Lutheran care for the needy can readily be seen in the work of Lutheran service organizations across the country, often among the most active such agencies in any given area. Worldwide, Lutheran World Relief is known and respected not only for showing up where needed, but for staying there even after the news reports fade away. In 2015 Lutheran World Relief touched over four million people in thirty-six countries.

Thoughts from the Winking Luther (The Lutheran Handbook I)

How to Share Your Faith with Someone

Sharing the gospel with others is a natural part of exercising a mature faith. In fact, Jesus commanded his followers to do this, making it an important part of the life of faith (Matthew 28:18–20). Still, Lutherans tend to be rather shy evangelists.

While evangelism has become a negative word for some people, sharing the story of salvation in Jesus Christ is still the most rewarding way to live out one's faith. It is also a discipline that takes practice.

1. Look for the opening.

Regular daily conversations offer lots of chances to talk about your faith. Listen for open-ended comments, such as, "I wonder why life is like that," or "Sometimes life seems so hard." When possible, offer a response from a Christian perspective. Begin sentences with phrases such as, "I've come to think..." or, "I don't have the perfect answer, but I believe..."

2. Be yourself.

Expressing your faith should be natural and the same as other types of daily conversation. Avoid suddenly switching your tone of voice or vocabulary. Also, don't try to impress the other person with your knowledge. Allow the Holy Spirit to guide you.

3. Watch for a chance to take the conversation deeper.

Carefully gauge the other person's response. Observe his or her facial expressions, verbal tone, and body language. If he or she seems to be closing down, set the topic aside and wait for another time. If he or she perks up, be prepared to continue.

4. Open Up.

Human beings are attracted to each other by our strengths, but we bond because of our weaknesses. Key to sharing your faith is the willingness to be honest about your own life's struggles. This will communicate safety, which for many people is critical.

5. Follow up.

Offer to continue the conversation later and arrange a time. At this point, the conversation will have become personally valuable to you. Allowing the person to see your commitment to your faith alongside your continuing questions will reassure him or her of your sincerity.

6. Offer to share your faith community with the other person.

Most people join a church after being invited by a friend. When the time is right, invite the person to attend with you. Tell the person what makes it special to you.

7. Try to maintain the relationship regardless of what the person does.

Be prepared for the other person to shut down around faith talk, decline your invitation to attend church, or even appear to avoid you. The most effective way to communicate that you're a follower of Jesus Christ is through your actions; continue to live naturally and with integrity. Watch for another opportunity to open the subject later on.

Outreach: What we do for others

LENTEN SERVICE PROJECT FOR LUTHERAN WORLD RELIEF

BASKETS OF PROMISE

On Easter, we celebrate the joy and hope of Christ's resurrection. We respond to this gift of new life by answering the call to “care for the orphans and widows” (James 1:27, NRSV) — those living in poverty and marginalization throughout the world.

Again this year, New Hope is participating in Lutheran World Relief's Baskets of Promise Lenten Appeal. This project is also part of New Hope's participation in Servant of All: A Year of Kits with LWR as part of the commemoration of the 500th anniversary of the Reformation. We would like to complete at least 50 kits during Lent.

Each week in Lent, we'll collect items to form LWR Personal Care Kits.

You can either bring in specific supplies for Personal Care Kits each week through Palm Sunday or you can assemble kits at home during Lent and bring them to church on Palm Sunday. We will assemble kits on Palm Sunday between services. Directions on how to assemble the kits at home will be available on the Outreach table by the water fountain and in the Fellowship Hall —or you can go to lwr.org.

This list of items to donate will be in each week's Ministry Connections and is also on the bulletin board in the coat area of the narthex (entry). All items can be placed in the bins under the bulletin board.

It's Nearing That Time of Year... Graduation!!

And while many of you have already have experienced all the excitement that accompanies the anxiety and nuttiness, we generally take for granted the clothes they'll wear that day.

The population at Hammond is ever evolving. We now have an incredibly diverse population; one that might rival the United Nations. Included in that population are many new migrants from some pretty tough environments. And some are refugees. Our needs are also local, in that we have many longtime residents living a tough life.

If you can, would you help out by donating a new (or nearly new) white/light dress shirt? Whatever size seems right, we probably have a need, but it seems the bigger sizes are in greater demand. Drop them off at the church.

If you want to find another way to help for graduation, contact: April\_Lerner@hcpss.org

Dear Pastor Price,

With a heart of gratitude, I want to thank you for New Hope's continued financial support of Lutheran World Relief through these many years. New Hope is one of the top 30 giving congregations to the work of Lutheran World Relief in our Delaware-Maryland Synod! For nearly 75 years, because of congregations like yours, Lutheran World Relief has committed itself to reaching some of the world's poorest and most isolated communities where farming is the primary means of survival. From helping cocoa farmers increase their earnings using environmentally-friendly methods to empowering female farmers in India, to providing emergency relief to children and families in crisis zones, Lutheran World Relief is there when and where people need us.

A YEAR OF QUILTS AND KITS UPDATE

Thanks to Josie Zayac's Lenten Journey, we are up to 54 total quilts and kits for 2017. Help keep that number growing by helping to assemble Personal Care Kits on Palm Sunday between services. See the article about Baskets of Promise in this newsletter. You can also help each 2nd and 4th Tuesday of the month at Craft Night where we work on quilts and fleece tied blankets. No skills are needed, we will teach you.

See all the beautiful quilts that have been made to date on Palm Sunday. They will be used to decorate the Sanctuary.

At the most recent council meeting, scheduled for February 21, 2017, we heard some good news! Namely, that 2/3 of our members are engaged in some activity beyond normal Sunday worship. Such activities include worship leadership, as in singing in the choir; Christian Education, broadly defined; taking care of our property; and various forms of outreach, such as serving meals to the homeless. This is very encouraging, on its own, and in comparison with sister congregations around the synod.

Council has approved plans to renovate the ladies' restroom on the first floor of the church. Details are still being worked, but the idea is that the facilities will be updated so as to become ADA-compliant. Construction will start some time after Easter, and will take 3-4 weeks. We are hoping that the restroom will be usable to some extent during construction, and of course there is an ADA-friendly restroom in the basement of education wing.

Council now meets on the third Tuesday of the month, and the next scheduled meeting is set for March 21.
